PHB2204 Pharmacists' compounding of drug products. Revises the requirements for compounding of drugs by pharmacists. This bill provides, among other matters, clear parameters for permitted pharmacies in Virginia to engage in the compounding of drug products. The bill includes (i) definitions of "bulk drug substance," and "compounding," and modifications to other Drug Control Act definitions; (ii) clarification that pharmacists may compound pursuant to valid prescriptions or in anticipation of valid prescriptions according to historical prescribing patterns; (iii) labeling requirements for compounded drugs, both those drugs dispensed pursuant to single prescriptions and those drugs compounded in anticipation of receiving valid prescriptions; (iv) restrictions on distribution that clarify that pharmacists cannot distribute to other pharmacies or commercial entities but may deliver compounded products to alternative delivery locations and provide compounded products to practitioners to administer to their patients in the course of their professional practice; (v) requirements for performance and supervision of the compounding process; (vi) a requirement for a policy and procedure manual when the levels of compounding are associated with higher risk for contamination or radiopharmaceuticals or dosage forms that are dose-critical or specialized preparations, such as slow-release products or transdermal patches; (vii) rules for the use of bulk drug substances in compounding; (viii) restrictions on the compounding of drugs that have been removed from the market by the FDA or found to be unsafe and on the compounding of large amounts of any drug product that are essentially copies of commercially available; and (ix) strict recordkeeping criteria. Physicians who are permitted to dispense or who engage in compounding must also comply with the requirements. Permitted pharmacies will not be required to obtain licenses as wholesale distributors if the wholesale distributions do not exceed five percent of the gross annual sales of the pharmacy or the wholesale distributions of Schedules II through V controlled substances do not exceed five percent of the total dosage units of such substances dispensed annually by the pharmacy.

PSB1334 Health regulatory boards; disciplinary procedures and reporting requirements. Lowers the disciplinary standard for persons licensed by the Boards of Medicine and Physical Therapy from gross negligence to simple negligence. The bill creates a confidential consent agreement that may be used by a health regulatory board (board), in lieu of discipline, in cases involving minor misconduct where there is little or no injury to a patient or the public and little likelihood of repetition by the practitioner. A board shall not be able to use the confidential consent agreement if it believes there is probable cause to believe the practitioner has (i) demonstrated gross negligence or intentional misconduct in the care of patients or (ii) conducted his practice in a manner as to be a danger to patients or the public. Such agreements will include findings of fact and may include an admission or a finding of a violation. Such agreements may be used by a board in future disciplinary proceedings. The bill provides that before reinstatement to practice, a three-year minimum period must elapse after the revocation of the certificate, registration or license of any person regulated by one of the boards; however, individuals who have had their licenses revoked by a health regulatory board are grandfathered and subject to provisions concerning reinstatement in effect prior to July 1, 2003. Existing reporting requirements by hospitals, health care institutions, health professionals and others concerning disciplinary actions, certain disorders, malpractice judgments, and settlements are clarified concerning timing for the reports, mandated reporters and the information required to be reported to the Board of Medicine. The bill excludes from reporting by hospitals and health care institutions certain health professional misconduct if it has been reported to a peer review panel. Civil penalties for failure to report are increased up to a maximum of $25,000 for hospitals and health care institutions and $5,000 for all others. Certification, registration and licensure are conditioned upon the payment of such penalties. The confidentiality of the reported information is clarified. In addition, the Department of Health Professions' biennial reporting requirements on disciplinary actions by each of the health regulatory boards is clarified. The Department is given increased authority to regulate unlicensed practice and is directed to investigate all complaints within the jurisdiction of the relevant health regulatory board. PHB2503 Real estate appeals to Boards of Equalization and circuit court. Makes several changes to the current process for appealing real estate assessments. For purposes of appeals to a board of equalization, the bill provides that there shall be a presumption that the valuation of real estate as determined by the local assessing officer is correct, and the taxpayer must produce substantial evidence that the valuation of his real estate is erroneous and was not arrived at in accordance with generally accepted appraisal practice in order to receive relief from the board. The bill does not change current law in regard to the burden of proof and standard of proof that a taxpayer must produce in circuit court. The bill permits taxpayers to make fair market value appeals to a board of equalization. It also limits to nine the number of years of consecutive service that a person may sit as a member of a board of equalization. Thirty percent of the members of boards of equalization shall be commercial or residential real estate appraisers, other real estate professionals, builders, developers, or legal or financial professionals, and at least one member shall sit in all appeals involving commercial, industrial or multi-family residential property, unless waived by the taxpayer. The bill also requires each member of a board of equalization to take continuing education instruction at least once in every four years of service as a member of such board. The bill provides a three-year statute of limitations for appealing real estate tax assessments to all circuit courts. In general, there is a three-year statute of limitations under current law; however, in some localities there is a one-year statute of limitations pursuant to specific law. In those localities with the one-year statute of limitations, the new three-year requirement will be phased in over several years. The bill has an effective date of January 1, 2004.

PHB2538 Tax administration; application to court for correction of state tax assessment. Eliminates the current requirement that a taxpayer must pay the assessment in order to appeal to the circuit court. The Tax Commissioner would be authorized to petition the court to require the taxpayer to pay upon a showing that the Department is likely to prevail on the merits of the case. If the court grants such motion by the Tax Commissioner, the taxpayer must pay the assessment, post a bond, or offer a letter of credit.

FHB2035 Real estate tax; limitation on tax rate. Provides that an annual assessment, biennial assessment or general reassessment of real property may not result in more than a five percent increase in the total real estate tax levies for a county, city or town, with one exception. The bill also provides that a county, city or town may not set its real property tax for any tax year at a rate that would produce more than 105 percent of the previous year's total real property tax levies for such county, city or town, with one exception. The exception would allow a locality to set its property tax rate at a rate not to exceed the rate of population growth plus the rate of inflation in the locality for the immediately preceding year. The average tax increase on individuals would not exceed five percent. However, some taxpayers could be above the average while others could fall below the average. Under current law, (i) the annual growth rate in a locality's total real estate taxes from an annual assessment, biennial assessment or general reassessment is not capped, provided the locality holds a public hearing in regard to its real property tax rate; and (ii) there is no cap on real property tax rates.

FHB2780 The Virginia Educational Quality Act of 2003. Creates the Virginia Educational Quality Act of 2003 which (i) declares that funding for public education shall be the first budget priority of the Commonwealth, (ii) increases the state sales and use tax from three and one-half percent to four and one-half percent with the revenues dedicated to public education, (iii) authorizes the Virginia Public School Authority to issue bonds to fund grants to local school divisions in the total amount of $1 billion to pay the costs of school construction, school renovation, and other school infrastructure projects, and (iv) requires the Governor to report to the General Assembly on the status of educational funding to localities at the levels mandated by the Constitution of Virginia and the laws of the Commonwealth. One-half of the additional revenues from the increase in the sales and use tax is to be distributed among all counties and cities based upon point of sale and used solely for public school purposes, and the remaining one-half of such revenues is to be appropriated by the General Assembly (a) toward the fulfillment of standards of quality for public elementary and secondary schools, and (b) for obligations and priorities for higher education. The distributions to localities based on point of sale is conditioned on schools participating in a statewide distance learning system whereby the school interacts with colleges and universities, private businesses, and national centers of learning to bring students the benefits of the knowledge and skills of these diverse public and private entities. Appropriations by the General Assembly for elementary and secondary schools shall include (i) funding for the distance learning system and (ii) funding to create a Virginia Apprenticeship System Team ("VAST") that will provide on-the-job training for students through partnerships with private businesses. A portion of the appropriations for higher education is conditioned upon and used to help create a program whereby each institution of higher education, including community colleges, will be paired with divisions of state government to provide institutions of higher education the challenge and opportunity of thinking in partnership with the Commonwealth's state agencies. One-half of the grants from the Virginia Public School Authority ($500 million) shall be distributed to each school division in an equal amount of $3,676,471. The remaining one-half shall be distributed to each local school division on a set per pupil amount based on each school division's actual September 30, 2002, fall membership data as a proportion of total actual September 30, 2002, fall membership data for all school divisions. The portion of the bill increasing the sales and use tax is effective January 1, 2004, and only if approved at a statewide referendum on November 4, 2003.

FSB773 Real estate tax; limitation on tax rate. Provides that an annual assessment, biennial assessment or general reassessment of real property may not result in more than a five percent increase in the total real estate tax levies for a county, city or town, with one exception. The bill also provides that a county, city or town may not set its real property tax for any tax year at a rate that would produce more than 105 percent of the previous year's total real property tax levies for such county, city or town, with one exception. The exception would allow a locality to set its property tax rate at a rate not to exceed the rate of population growth plus the rate of inflation in the locality for the immediately preceding year. The average tax increase on individuals would not exceed five percent. However, some taxpayers could be above the average while others could fall below the average. Under current law, (i) the annual growth rate in a locality's total real estate taxes from an annual assessment, biennial assessment or general reassessment is not capped, provided the locality holds a public hearing in regard to its real property tax rate; and (ii) there is no cap on real property tax rates.

than a five percent increase in the total real estate tax levies for a county, city or town, with one exception. The bill also provides that a county, city or town may not set its real property tax for any tax year at a rate that would produce more than 105 percent of the previous year's total real property tax levies for such county, city or town, with one exception. The exception would allow a locality to set its property tax rate at a rate not to exceed the rate of population growth plus the rate of inflation in the locality for the immediately preceding year. The average tax increase on individuals would not exceed five percent. However, some taxpayers could be above the average while others could fall below the average. Under current law, (i) the annual growth rate in a locality's total real estate taxes from an annual assessment, biennial assessment or general reassessment is not capped, provided the locality holds a public hearing in regard to its real property tax rate; and (ii) there is no cap on real property tax rates.

PHB1505 Emergency water supply permit. Authorizes the State Water Control Board to issue an emergency Virginia Water Protection Permit (VWPP). If the Board finds that there is an insufficient drinking water supply for the area served by a public water system, an emergency permit would be issued to an applicant seeking to develop an additional source of water supply. The amount of water that could be withdrawn under the permit is limited to the amount necessary to protect public health and safety. The emergency permit would be valid (i) until the Board either denied or approved a regular VWPP or (ii) for one year, whichever occurs sooner. The fee charged by the Board for the emergency permit would be 50 percent of the amount charged for a comparable water project seeking a VWPP.

Workers' Compensation

Passed

PHB1877 Workers' compensation; infectious disease presumption. Provides that the existing provision that delays, until six months after an employee has undergone a preemployment physical examination, the presumption that certain diseases causing the death or disability of a firefighter or certain other employees who have a documented occupational exposure to blood or body fluids are presumed to be occupational diseases does not apply if a person entitled to invoke the presumption demonstrates a documented exposure during the six-month period.

Constitutional Amendment Resolutions

Passed

PHJ635 Constitutional amendment (first resolution); restoration of civil rights for certain felons. Authorizes the General Assembly to provide by general law for the restoration of civil rights for persons convicted of nonviolent felonies who meet the conditions prescribed by law. The present Constitution provides for restoration of rights by the Governor. The amendment retains the right of the Governor to restore civil rights and adds the alternative for restoration of rights pursuant to general law for persons convicted of nonviolent felonies. This resolution is identical to SJR 283.

PSJ417 Constitutional amendment (first resolution); effective dates of decennial redistricting measures; vacancies. Continues the requirement that decennial reapportionment or redistricting measures shall be enacted in the first year after the decennial census (2011, etc.). The proposed amendment spells out that the new lines will be implemented for the first November general election held just prior to the expiration of the term being served in the year of the redistricting. The new language, in effect, continues the existing practice and understanding that there will be regular November elections from new districts in 2011 for the House of Delegates and Senate, in 2012 for the United States House of Representatives, in 2021 for the House of Delegates, in 2022 for the House of Representatives, in 2023 for the Senate, and so forth. The proposed amendment further provides explicitly that the members in office when a decennial reapportionment law is enacted shall complete their terms of office and continue to represent the districts from which they were elected for the duration of those terms of office. Another new provision specifies that any vacancy occurring during such terms will be filled from the preexisting district, i.e., the same district that elected the member whose vacancy is being filled. The proposed amendment continues the present provision that reapportionment laws take effect "immediately" without being subject to the usual requirement for a four-fifths vote in each house of the General Assembly to approve an emergency measure. This exception to the emergency vote requirement remains necessary. There is usually only a short time available to draw new lines after the release of census redistricting data early in the year following the census, and before the nomination and election timetable begins for that year's November election.

PHJ752 Memorializing Congress concerning the reauthorization of the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Applied Technology Act. Entreats the Congress of the United States to continue the funding for career and technical education in public secondary and postsecondary schools when reauthorizing the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Applied Technology Act in 2003. Federal funding for career and technical education, formerly known as vocational/technical education, has been continuous since 1917. In fiscal year 2003, Virginia receives nearly $25 million in basic grant funds, and another $2.5 million in tech prep grant funds, with 85 percent of the funding being distributed to local school divisions, more than $3.1 million being distributed to the Virginia Community College System, and $3.7 million allocated for administration to the Department of Education. These funds are used to strengthen students' academic, vocational, and technical skills, implement industry certification programs, expand the use of technology, provide professional development to career and technical teachers, and involve parents, local businesses, and labor and industry leaders in the design, implementation, and evaluation of career and technical programs to meet the needs of the local economy and to comply with nationally adopted standards. Congress will take up reauthorization of the Carl D. Perkins Act in the coming months and proposals have been made that indicate the consideration may be given to diverting the federal dollars to other priorities. The Congress is also urged to continue this funding in an amount that will continue Virginia's $27 million in funding or will increase this amount.

FHJ587 In-state tuition for certain immigrant students. Creates a 10-member joint subcommittee to study the feasibility of permitting certain immigrant students who have not yet attained legal permanent resident status to receive in-state tuition to attend Virginia public institutions of higher education. The joint subcommittee is to consider current federal immigration law and regulation, judicial precedent, current in-state tuition practices addressing immigrant and nonresident students in the Commonwealth and other states, fiscal and policy implications of extending in-state tuition to such students, and such other matters as it deems appropriate. Modeled after a resolution adopted by the Hawaii legislature in April 2002, the resolution also directs the joint subcommittee to specifically examine the feasibility of permitting alien students to pay resident tuition fees if the student (i) has obtained a diploma from a Virginia public or private high school following three years enrollment, or obtained a general education diploma in Virginia; and (ii) files an affidavit with the enrolling institution stating that an application to legalize the student's resident status has been filed or will be filed when eligible to do so. In addition, the joint subcommittee shall identify practices at Virginia public and private institutions of higher education addressing the admission of and financial assistance to undocumented immigrant students; and estimate the number of undocumented immigrant students in Virginia public secondary schools and how many of these students might wish to pursue higher education in the Commonwealth.

Directs the Commission on Youth to study the Commonwealth's compliance with federal laws addressing education records, including the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. The Commission is to (i) evaluate the advantages and disadvantages of adopting the FERPA as Virginia's student records provisions versus maintaining Virginia's current statutory scheme with steps to reconcile it with federal law and regulations; (ii) evaluate Virginia's compliance with the education records provisions of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act; and (iii) recommend appropriate and feasible changes to the Code of Virginia to resolve conflicts with federal law. The Commission may establish an advisory group to provide oversight and direction in the process.

FHJ643 Potential cost savings and benefits vis-a-vis the new disaggregated data and reporting requirements of No Child Left Behind and the use of independent educational performance assessment services. Requests the Board of Education to assess the potential cost-savings and benefits vis-a-vis the new disaggregated data and reporting requirements of the federal law, No Child Left Behind, and the use of independent educational performance assessment services. This resolution notes that the Joint Subcommittee to Study the use of Independent Educational Performance Assessment Services (HJR 91 of 2002) has examined the efficacy of independent educational performance assessment services and is convinced that economies of scale can be accomplished by the development of comprehensive data systems and that objective evaluation of comprehensive academic data can be used to compare previous years' performance in each school and each school division. The resolution notes the limited resources in Virginia and the need to seek the most cost-effective and efficacious way of providing the data required by No Child Left Behind. Comprehensive data could identify the gravest gaps in student achievement, the most effective programs, characteristics of competent teachers, what professional development needs are most important, and where funds could be well-spent to improve public education in Virginia. The Board of Education is requested, in the conduct of this study, to review potential funding sources for the engagement of independent educational performance assessment services, including, but not limited to, No Child Left Behind moneys and other federal or foundation grant funding.

FHJ650 Computer physician order entry systems as a means of reducing medication errors. Directs the Joint Commission on Health Care to study computer physician order entry systems as a means of reducing medication errors. This resolution notes that more than one million serious medication errors are believed to occur annually in hospitals across the country and that many of these errors result in adverse drug reactions, with 20 percent being life-threatening. The many reasons for medication errors are acknowledged, particularly illegible handwriting, decimal point errors resulting in overdoses, unknown drug interactions, drug allergies, and confusion of drugs because of similar names. Computer physician order entry systems are said to reduce these medication errors by integrating the patient's test results and medication history, detecting possible drug interactions, warning of allergies and overdosing, assisting the physician with information about new drugs, and providing drug-specific information. In conducting this study, the Joint Commission on Health Care is requested to examine (i) the benefits of computer physician order entry systems in hospitals; (ii) any legal impediments to implementation of such systems in Virginia; (iii) the cost benefits of purchasing and implementing computer physician order entry systems in hospitals vis-a-vis the initial substantial investment; (iv) and any professional issues relating to implementation of computer physician order entry systems in hospitals, including physicians' computer skills and any cultural avoidance of such systems.

FSJ329 Treatment of nursing home residents in hospital emergency rooms. Directs the Joint Commission on Health Care to study treatment of nursing home residents in hospital emergency rooms. This resolution notes that Virginia has significant law relating to abuse and neglect of the elderly and the disabled; however, Adult Protective Services does not have legal tools comparable to those of Child Protective Services because adults are presumed, under most circumstances, to be capable of protecting themselves. Nursing home residents are, however, among the most vulnerable and fragile of adults and are the least able to protect their rights and to file complaints. Noting that statistics on the number and kinds of treatment that nursing home residents receive in hospital emergency rooms could identify problems that need to be resolved before crises occur, the resolution directs the Joint Commission to examine available reports in the Department of Health and to request the cooperation of the Virginia Hospital and Health Care Association and the Virginia Health Care Association in collecting the most recent available data on injuries and illnesses among nursing home patients and emergency room visits. The Joint Commission must report its findings and recommendations by the first day of the 2004 Session.
